

Every project consists of modules for controlling equipment, that can be downloaded from the store of modules. It enables not only fast addition of new equipment to the project but also regular updates of modules, when required.