the platform has an intuitive interface and requires no skills at programing or designing interfaces. A project can be created and tested on a tablet or smart phone.