

The platform has powerful tools to create new graphic styles and modules to control equipment that can be later on sold in the built-in store.