

The principle of forwarding data from the external network to the internal one: