

Everything that is required can be added to a subdevice this way. An event is activated when a subdevice is created.