A scanner must be developed after modules are developed. The developed modules are registered in the store of modules and are given a unique ID. After a scanner finds devices in the local net, the script must download a module for the found equipment by the indicated ID. To download a module use the following function