

If a user is authorized in the system, true value is assigned to the variable and the app changes the status of the authorization button into: