

is a routine component that describes the control command and the value range. If the value is sent in the indicated range, the routine is executed. For example, the event "Motion appeared" is activated if the motion sensor is triggered.