Pointer to an object that services a function. If a pointer is not required, leave an empty object or undefined