Completion of module installation. It is required for scanner development. When a scanner is developed, use this method to set the module to installation with all required data.