

General description

Principles of working with modules are identical to the principles of working with projects in i3 pro excluding methods and and properties described below. When a module is developed new notions appear "Module", "Subdevice", "Module properties ". Parameters described in the methods in brackets are not obligatory.