This section describes methods and properties for working with modules. By default a developer can get access to module methods and properties by refering to the module variable.