if the parameter is not given in the list, its value is set by default (i.e. when a driver is created only Host and Port can be given)