OAuth

OAuth is an open authotization protocol. It is used when it is required to authorise to work with online services (for example, if you need to create a module with the help of which you can send e-mails from your gmail account).