

Module development in i3 lite is different from module development in iRidium, in the first place when getting access to module resources. Module resources:

- graphic items, pages, popups
- drivers
- command and feedback channels
- project tokens (variables)