As you can see in the example above - the access to a popup can be received with the help of the GetPopup function: