

5.6. Creating relations between widget graphic items and driver channels.

Relation between a graphic item and a channel is formed when relating the driver feedback channel (Feedback) and the graphic item created on the widget. Here is an example of creating relations between graphic items of the created widget and the driver channels with the help of the code.