

Development the static modules.

Usually static modules made on native drivers without the server (see section 3. for more information about development of such modules) do not contain the script part. But with the server and the server module it is required to implement logic of communication between the panel and the server.

The script described in this section is implemented in the panel module.
