

With the help of the editor

To create SubDevices with the help of iRidium studio, it is necessary to create a project, then to select the project in the tree and select the "SubDevices" item in it. After that the button for adding SubDevices becomes available.