Static module - a module with fixed functionality (the functionality cannot be expanded at launch or during work).