

There are two types of Actions: Simple and Advanced. The difference is that for Simple actions all information required for work is known at the moment the action is created. For example, to switch on a dimmer at full brightness, it is necessary to activate the setDimmer channel and send 255 there. The value is known beforehand.