

When a value is set in the register, the macros mechanism gets a notification that the register was changed and saves the macros with the received value.