

A module must have as many subdevices as there are working zones supported by a device