

Check that a module understands that connection to a device is lost and it shows information about it to a user.