Providing access to hardware through the router is a next step - NAT and PortForwarding setting