

i3 lite can connect to a remote router via a domain name which is given to router by DDNS service. The domain name is used if the internet provider does NOT give the static IP-address or when you use a mobile internet.