After saving DDNS settings your router will report noip.com it's internet IP-address and noip.com will redirect to the router a data sent to the subdomain's address.