

i3 lite app can connect to iRidium server through the internet for management and to receive data from physically remote hardware. For this you need to setup your network hardware (router). Let's view the ways of hardware remote control.