

The cycle will record the values of the brightness tags of all devices of the light type in the project in an array